The San Diego County Suicide Prevention Council (SPC) created this report to the community in order to share the most recent information available on the status of suicide and local suicide prevention efforts in the County. The goal of this report is to bring awareness to the community, and ultimately, to help all of us reduce regional suicide rates. This report is also intended to reduce the stigma associated with suicide and mental illness, and connect people with available resources. In this report, you will discover the following: (1) information about the San Diego County Suicide Prevention Council; (2) a timeline that reflects the key milestones of suicide prevention on local and national levels; (3) a suicide report card that includes data spanning from 2008 to 2013; (4) a status update on key suicide and suicide prevention efforts in San Diego County; (5) information about what stakeholder groups can do to address this public health challenge; and, (6) information about how trends locally, statewide and nationally compare. In addition, this report includes highlights of high impact prevention programs and resources, such as “Question, Persuade, Refer” training, the It’s Up to Us media campaign, and the Access & Crisis Line’s new online CHAT service. Bringing this information together in one, comprehensive report has never been done before, and we hope that this report’s contents benefit all stakeholder groups, and bring great value to prevention efforts across San Diego County.

The San Diego County Suicide Prevention Council

The SPC is a community-wide collaborative focused on realizing a vision of zero suicides in San Diego County. Our mission is to prevent suicide and its devastating consequences in San Diego County.

On April 1, 2010, the County of San Diego Health and Human Services Agency (HHSA) awarded Community Health Improvement Partners (CHIP) a contract to form and establish an interagency council to create, introduce and drive implementation of a Suicide Prevention Action Plan for San Diego County, the first of its kind in California. Today with continued support from the County of San Diego, the council provides oversight, guidance, and collective support to implement the recommendations of the San Diego County Suicide Prevention Action Plan.

For more information on the plan or to join SPC visit www.spcsandiego.org.

The Status of Suicide & Suicide Prevention in San Diego County

Historically, San Diego County suicide rates have been very similar to national rates. However, compared to California suicide rates, local San Diego County rates have remained approximately 20% higher.

In the most recent year of available data (2012), the California suicide rate fell for the first time in seven years, while the local County rate continued to increase. The national data has not been available since 2010 so it has been a challenge to compare local data with national data.

Consistent with the County’s Live Well San Diego (LWSD) initiative, a comprehensive 10-year plan to improve the health and promote wellness for all San Diego County residents, the SPC Report Card addresses LWSD’s Living Safely component and its Pursuing Policy & Environmental Change strategy. To learn more about the LWSD initiative, visit www.livewellsd.org.

San Diego Now Has CHAT Services!
In August 2013, the Access and Crisis Line (ACL) launched a new online CHAT service for San Diego County. California Mental Health Services Authority (CalMHSA), San Diego County, and OptumHealth identified the implementation of CHAT services as a critical component for the next generation of suicide prevention efforts within our community. This innovation aligns with CalMHSA statewide Prevention and Early Intervention projects: Suicide Prevention, Stigma and Discrimination, and Student Mental Health.

The ACL receives thousands of calls per month related to suicide prevention, crisis intervention, counseling, community resources, mental health referrals, and alcohol and drug treatment services. Adding CHAT services to the existing ACL services enables more access for individuals needing help who may not want to call a telephone line. Research suggests that teens and young adults prefer other methods of communication over the telephone when in distress. San Diego’s CHAT services are an important step in meeting the evolving needs of our community and a population that relies more on technological and virtual methods of communication.

CHAT services are available Monday through Friday (4pm-10pm) via a smartphone or computer at www.optumhealthsandiego.com or www.Up2SD.org.

Did You Know?
- 87% of people who used CHAT service found it helpful
- 32% of CHAT users had thoughts of suicide within the last 24hrs
- 55% of CHAT users are between the ages of 25-59
- Average length of a CHAT is 28 minutes

Question, Persuade, Refer Gatekeeper Trainings for Suicide Prevention are available in San Diego County.

Question, Persuade, and Refer (QPR) Gatekeeper Trainings are designed to give members of the general public the basic skills necessary to recognize a crisis and the warning signs that someone may be contemplating suicide. QPR is like CPR— an emergency mental health intervention for suicidal persons. The QPR Institute recommends that 1 in 4 adults are trained in QPR in order to eliminate suicide.

The QPR Gatekeeper Trainings are funded by the County of San Diego Health and Human Services Agency, and offered at no cost to attendees on behalf of the San Diego County Suicide Prevention Council. If you are interested in attending or hosting a training please visit www.spcsandiego.org and click on Trainings for more information.

As a QPR-trained Gatekeeper, you will learn to:
- Recognize warning signs of suicide
- Know how to offer hope
- Know how to get help and save a life

To date over 7,000 San Diegans have been trained in QPR.

It’s Up to Us!
The It’s Up to Us suicide prevention and stigma reduction media campaign is designed to empower San Diegans to talk openly about mental illness, recognize symptoms, utilize local resources and seek help. By raising awareness and providing access to local resources, the campaign aims to inspire wellness, reduce stigma and prevent suicide.

Recovery is possible and help is available. It’s up to us to make a difference in the lives of San Diegans experiencing mental health challenges by offering support and providing opportunities.

Pain isn’t always obvious. Someone you know, a friend or family member, may be suffering in silence and thinking about suicide. Learn the warning signs. Communicating your concern and offering to find help together, could save a life. If you are concerned, take action right away.

Call the San Diego Access and Crisis Line at (888) 724-7240 to receive FREE assistance 7 days a week/ 24 hours a day. For a list of warning signs, mental health and suicide prevention resources and additional information, visit www.Up2SD.org.

This campaign is developed through the County of San Diego Health and Human Services Agency and supports the County’s Live Well San Diego plan to promote a community that is healthy, safe and thriving.
